

Vice President of Finance
San Francisco / Brooklyn

About JUMP:

JUMP (a Social Bicycles Project) is the future of urban mobility: shared electric bicycle networks that are the quickest, most enjoyable, and most empowering way of getting around a city. With our locking and tracking “smartbike” technology, we pioneered dockless bicycle sharing systems. Our next generation product is an industry leading electric-assist bicycle platform. Our team of designers, engineers, planners, and operators have built this system from the ground up, and together we have deployed bike share networks to more than 40 locations across the world. Our goal is to transform cities, making them more sustainable, equitable, and livable via a new era of personal mobility.

To make that vision a reality, we need to grow our team. Across all disciplines of the company, we’re seeking candidates with the experience, competence, and enthusiasm to dive in headfirst and rapidly solve complex, exciting, and complicated problems. We place tremendous value on our Company’s roots and culture: a mix of ingenuity, controlled chaos, hard work, and sense of purpose. This job opportunity offers a unique chance to join a small but growing team and make a big impact.

About this position:
